You've recently purchased a pot of Neem Treatment Balm for dry and irritated skin handmade by Lovely Greens. This beauty product is made with skin-loving oils that help to moisturise, soothe, and protect your skin.

The way you use the balm is simple – you apply it thinly and massage onto external areas that are dry and irritated. Reapply when your skin needs more moisture and comfort.

This product contains 5% Neem oil which is an oil extracted from the nuts and fruit of the Neem tree. Neem oil contains the natural compound Azadirachtin which some people may have a sensitivity to so please conduct a skin patch test before using this product more liberally.

You'll also notice that this product may not smell the prettiest - that's the natural scent of Neem oil. If you're hesitant to use it while you're around people, try applying the balm at night. If you're interested in a nicer smelling balm made with natural ingredients I recommend the Natural Calendula Salve, which has no added fragrance and has only a faint beeswax and honey scent.

Notes on usage:

I must emphasise though that I am not a doctor, that this is not a medicinal product, and that I do not claim that this product will cure or treat any particular skin condition. If you'd like to take this product in to your doctor to discuss the ingredients and usage, I strongly encourage you to do so. Please also note that this product should not be used internally. This product is also not recommended for small children, pregnant women, or those considering becoming pregnant.

Thanks so much and do get in touch if you have a question or would like to find out more.
